

Confrontations among languages:

- In this presentation you will be shown about a common issue that involves spoken languages. In this case English, Spanish and Catalan.

Confrontations among languages:

- As we all know, there were people in the old times who colonised other countries or had to emmigrate far away from the place where they lived.

Confrontations among languages:

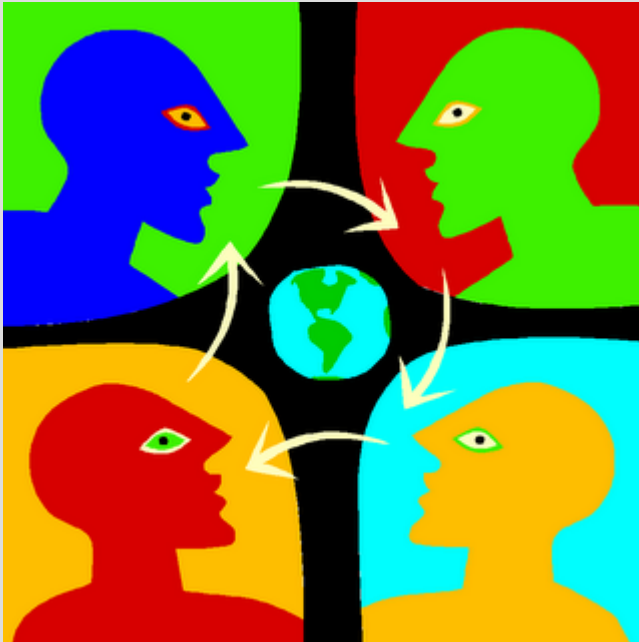

- Since the very beginning the fact that people were unable to understand each other made that some languages prevailed while other disappeared.
(i.e: in colonisations, conquests, wars...)

Confrontations among languages:

- But there are also ways to transform languages without recurring to violence, for example just by simple contact with another language.

Confrontations among languages:

- The same language can be spoken in different areas of the world, with their belonging differences related to grammar, spelling and pronunciation.

Confrontations among languages:

- Nowadays people tend to reject those videos, films, series and cartoons that are not dubbed integrally to their languages (and I find it normal).

The YouTube logo, featuring the word "You" in black and "Tube" in white inside a red rounded rectangle.The MEGAVideo logo, with "MEGA" in black and "VIDEO" in red, both in a bold, italicized, sans-serif font with a white outline and a drop shadow.

Confrontations among languages:

- But there is no use in insulting other people just because they speak another variation of our own language.

Confrontations among languages:

- The standards of behaviour are the key to solve this sort of problems. If people don't respect and appreciate the variety and richness of every single language, we will be doomed to ignorance.

